Kennedy Says U.S. 'Alert And Fully Capable' To Cope With Any Threat

Urges Keeping Of 'Nerve And Head'

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy declared Thursday the United States will be "alert and fully capable" to deal with any offensive threat from Soviet-backed Cuba against the United States or any country in this hemisphere.

At the same time he appealed to the American people "to keep both their nerve and their head."

The President told a news conference that he has full power as commander in chief of U. S. armed forces to take any action which may become necessary.

He warned the Communists against threatening or using force against the U. S. naval base at Guantanamo, the Panama Canal, the Cape Canaveral rocket base or the lives of American citizens in this country or any nation in this hemisphere.

Not A Threat

But in a carefully weighed and prepared statement he also said that recent Soviet arms shipments to Cuba do not present a threat to this country. And he declared emphatically that unilateral U. S. intervention in Cuba at present is not justified.

He pledged, however, that "we shall be alert and fully capable" to deal with any dangerous change in the situation. This country, he said, is increasing its surveillance in the Caribbean.

The President opened a news conference with a lengthy statement on the Cuban situation.

He said there has been a great deal of talk about that situation "both in the Communist camp and our own."

Asserting then that it is Castro and his supporters who are in trouble, he said the regime is isolated in the hemisphere, condemned by the OAS, excluded from the Inter-American Defense Board and kept out of the free trade organization. Industries are stagnating, harvests are declining and Castro's own supporters are seeing the promise of the revolution betrayed.

Not Surprising

It is not surprising, the President went on, that Castro is raising the threat of an American intervention.

Movement of Soviet personnel to the island has increased, Kennedy said, and is under careful surveillance by this country.

If the United States ever finds it necessary to intervene, he said, all the imported technicians would not alter the result.

He said he had already stated that the buildup of Soviet personnel in Cuba does not yet represent a threat of aggression to the rest of the hemisphere.

But if the buildup should ever become a potential base for aggression, the United States will move swiftly and effectively to take whatever action is necessary, he said.

"We shall neither initiate nor permit aggression in this hemisphere," the President pledged.

No Action Now

Unilateral military action by the United States cannot be justified at this time and is not required, Kennedy said. He added that it was unfortunate that such talk was being heard in this country.

He stressed that if, at any time, Cuba posed a threat to the United States — particularly along the Florida coast, including Cape Canaveral — then the United States would do "whatever must be done" to protect U. S. security.

He said as President and commander in chief he already has the authority to take whatever action he feels necessary.

He said the United States will be making further proposals to "our friends in the Organization of American States."

The North Atlantic Treaty Organization also will be kept advised, he said, and this country will continue to work with Cuban exiles working for restoration of their country's freedom.

Will Be Kept Posted

Congress and the people of the United States also will be kept posted, he said.

But he said the record should be clear that the only people talking about a war now are the Communist spokesmen in Moscow and Havana.

Kennedy was asked at what point the decision would be made that the buildup in Cuba had ceased to be defensive and had become offensive.

Kennedy replied that his earlier statements, as well as Thursday's, answered that question sufficiently.

In response to other questions, Kennedy said that if Cuba indicated a capacity to attack the United States the United States would act. It would take appropriate action after consultation with the military staff as to whether an offensive threat did exist, he said.

Kennedy said he and former President Dwight D. Eisenhower discussed Cuba, as well as many other problems, in their conversation Monday, but they had not made any "agreement" on keeping politics out of the Cuban problem.

Other Matters

Other matters at the news conference:

U2—Kennedy said the United States has not issued export licenses for U2 aircraft to any country except Nationalist China and there is no intention to issue any such licenses.

Politics-Foreign — A reporter asked the President to comment on the suggestion in a Soviet government statement that the conversations on Berlin would be delayed until after the U.S. congressional elections.

Kennedy said he felt it had been made perfectly clear that the issue of Berlin was not a political question in the United States.

Alliance for Progress—Kennedy was asked why the alliance had not made more progress. He said Latin America has been neglected for many, many years. It has a very low standard of living, poor housing and had health problems, he said. He called the effort of the alliance to improve this life a monumental task.

Begin Study Into Fatal Quarry Slide

PEN ARGYL — Investigation of a slate quarry slide disaster which took the lives of two persons was started yesterday by company officials of the East Quarry of the Albion Vein Slate Co. near here.

As probes dug into the cause of the accident, the condition of Donald Fenner 30, Bangor RD 3, remained critical. Fenner was one of seven other workers injured when a chunk of slate broke loose from a wall and fell on the nine employees in the quarry hole. He underwent surgery at Easton Hospital Wednesday for a deep skull fracture.

Killed in the accident were Daniel DeLong, 61, Pen Argyl RD 1, and Edward Eickoff, 31, Bangor.

David Stoddard, executive vice president of Albion, said the investigation of the accident is being conducted by his own employees "with no outside help."

Officials were unable to determine the size of the block which plummeted down on the workmen in the pit. It was reported that it would be impossible to judge the size because it shattered when it struck a protruding ledge.

Northampton County Coroner George T. Kametz listed the deaths of DeLong and Eickoff as accidental. DeLong died of a broken back, crushed skull, and multiple body injuries. Eickoff died of a fractured skull, severed left arm and multiple body injuries.

Two of the injured were in satisfactory condition last night at Easton Hospital. They are Peter Florot, 37, Pen Argyl RD 3, who suffered cuts of the face, possible concussion, and a broken collar bone and John Pekar, 60, Bangor RD, who suffered an injured right leg, and a cut of the head.

Reserve Bill Is Okayed By Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate voted unanimously Thursday to authorize President Kennedy to call 150,000 military reserves to active duty if they are needed during the next few months.

Kennedy told his news conference that such authority could be useful in the early stages of a possible crisis.

Noting that he already had the power to mobilize up to a million reserves in a national emergency, the President said the declaration of an emergency "might not be the most appropriate step" unless a crisis had reached its final or near-final stage.

The resolution was adopted quickly and smoothly after Senate leaders squelched an incipient political brawl over the Communist buildup in Cuba.

The vote was announced as 76-0 in favor of the resolution, with 48 Democrats and 28 Republicans being recorded. Later it was announced that the 16 Democrats and 8 Republicans who were absent when the roll was called were in favor of the resolution, thus putting all 100 senators on record.

With only hours to spare before Kennedy was due to face the country in a nationally broadcast news conference, the Senate Democratic and Republican leaders worked out an agreement to put aside other issues for the moment.

The resolution, which Kennedy sought in view of what the White House called a critical international situation, was sent to the House for expected quick approval there.

Ronson Donates $25,000 To Hospital Expansion Fund

(Special To The Daily Record)

WASHINGTON — A $25,000 donation by the Ronson Corporation will be made to the General Hospital of Monroe County, Representative Francis E. Walter announced last night.

Louis Aronson II, president of Ronson, notified Walter earlier in the day of the donation to the hospital expansion fund, and requested the Congressman make known its decision to hospital officials. Walter, on Sept. 6, wrote to the Ronson president and appealed to corporation officials "to support the General Hospital of Monroe County and contribute to the building fund drive as an expression of the firm's faith in this great institution."

Walter, obviously elated with

Aronson's action, said: "We in the 15th District should be forever grateful for Mr. Aronson's generosity. His operation at the Ronson Corporation has contributed so much to the economic wealth of our area. This latest action is another example of his firm's continuing interest in our area."

The Congressman, in his Sept. 6 letter, referred to Ronson Corporation as "one of Monroe County's vital industries" and its family of employees "a community leader."

He told Aronson "Of the many fine institutions in my Congressional District, I don't know of any that has made the forward strides of the General Hospital of Monroe County. We need only to reflect on the disastrous floods of August 1955 to see the value of this great hospital to Monroe County. The congenial and well-trained hospital staff received nationwide acclaim for the emergency work done during those trying hours and days.

"Before that and since, there have been many occasions when the hospital staff has proven itself to be a great asset to Monroe County and the entire Pocono Mountains area."

In answering the request in Walter's letter, Aronson wrote: "For years we have been aware of your support of all constructive projects and your representation of your Congressional District has been of the highest order. As a result of your timely actions you have been helpful in many cases in assisting in the maintaining of steady employment in your district."

Unusually Worthy

"We agree with you that the General Hospital of Monroe County fund drive is an unusually worthy cause."

"In spite of similar obligations in many other areas where we have plants, we have concluded to support your recommendation in a substantial way and will contribute $25,000 to the above project. The details will be worked out with our local manager, Mr. Gerald Brodsky."

Walter, in his correspondence with Aronson, told of the merit of the General Hospital of Monroe County fund drive and the recognition it has received from both the Pennsylvania Department of Public Health and the U. S. Public Health Service.

The Federal Government this past June 14 allocated $500,000 of Hill-Burton funds to the hospital to be applied to the building fund drive for $1,558,280.

The hospital plans to use the money for new construction and alteration to the General Hospital, and expansion of the x-ray, outpatient, operating and delivery suites.

Macmillan Pushes Entry Into ECM

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Harold Macmillan launched an informal and highly personal attempt Thursday to sell his Common Market policies to the critical prime ministers of the Commonwealth.

Macmillan now has a great personal stake in the issue. His continuation as Britain's prime minister could turn on whether he can successfully defend his plan to link Britain with the six-nation European trade grouping.

Surprisingly, Macmillan absent himself from his morning Cabinet meeting to lobby for his policies among the Commonwealth leaders.

The Commonwealth prime ministers conference, now in its fourth day, split up into small study groups to analyze details of the Brussels, Belgium, negotiations on Britain's application to join the European organization, now composed of France, Germany, Italy, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg.

Macmillan, generally recognized as a master political tactician, took the opportunity to move about among his Commonwealth critics and engage them in private discussions.

Among those he buttonholed were Australian Prime Minister Robert G. Menzies and Canadian Prime Minister John G. Diefenbaker, both of whom have said Britain's membership in the Common Market might cause the Commonwealth to collapse.

British sources said Macmillan was anxious to dispel what he regards as misconceptions in the Commonwealth about the Common Market.

He was aided in his lobbying by Duncan Sandys, Commonwealth and colonial secretary, and Edward Heath, deputy foreign secretary and Britain's chief negotiator at Brussels.

The onslaught against his policy by men like Diefenbaker, Menzies and Indian Prime Minister Nehru has given new heart to the rebels in Macmillan's own Conservative party.

Accusations Fly Between Red China And India

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—In a Red China accused each other Thursday of making new advances across the tense border near the mountainous Himalayan trail taken by the Dalai Lama in his escape from Tibet. There were no reports of shooting.

Prime Minister Nehru's government said a detachment of Chinese Communist troops appears to have crossed Tuesday into northeast India.

The Chinese incursion was reported just east of the Buddhist protectorate of Bhutan, which India has pledged to defend.

The Nehru government tended to play down the incident despite unofficial reports that an Indian outpost had been surrounded by a Chinese force outnumbering it 10 to 1.

A New Delhi spokesman described the invading force as a "group." He said reports 300 Communist troops took part were exaggerated. He declined to comment on the reports the outpost was surrounded. He said only that the Chinese were several hundred yards away.

Peiping's New China News Agency countered with a charge Indian troops had set up a new "aggressive strong point" in Tibet. "This marks a new development in nibbling of Chinese territory," the agency said.

The Communists also accused Indian planes of violating Red Chinese air space and conducting reconnaissance and harassments.

The Chinese Communists have strengthened their forces along the disputed frontier since the Dalai Lama made his escape three years ago.

Buses To Leave Locally

Eisenhower To Boost Scranton Rally Friday

SCRANTON, Pa. (AP) — The Republicans' top general—former president Dwight D. Eisenhower—will sound the charge for Pennsylvania's fall political campaign here Friday night.

Eisenhower's appearance before GOP rank and file at the Scranton Armory will cap four months of sharp skirmishing between Republicans and Democrats and open up two months of all-out political warfare. The election is Nov. 6.

The Democrats' own commander-in-chief, President Kennedy, will fire the opening salvo next Thursday at Harrisburg for his party's formal fall campaign.

For Rep. William W. Scranton, Republican candidate for governor, the Armory rally will be a return to home base. The city was named after his family. He won his political reputation in the 10th congressional district, which includes the city of Scranton and Lackawanna County, in the face of a 1960 Democratic sweep of the state.

Local Schedule

Three chartered buses will carry Monroe Countians to the rally, in addition to private cars. Harold Kresge, county campaign chairman, announced this week. For people of the West End of the county, a bus will leave the Pocono Twp. firehouse in Tannersville at 6 p.m. For the mountain area, a bus will leave the Mountainhome Methodist Church at 6 p.m., stopping at the Mount Pocono A&P at 6:30. The third bus will leave the East Stroudsburg Station at 6 p.m. and Penn-Stroud Hotel in Stroudsburg at 6:15.

Eisenhower's office said the former president expects to arrive in Scranton about 4 p.m., following a day of campaigning on behalf of the GOP in Illinois. He will be met by Scranton.

The GOP rally is not a fund-raising affair, but Kennedy's appearance in Harrisburg next week will be at the Democratic party's annual $100-a-plate dinner.

Other Candidates

Along with Scranton, these other GOP statewide candidates will be on the podium with Eisenhower: Sen. Raymond P. Shafer, for Lieutenant Governor; Rep. James E. Van Zandt, for the U.S. Senate; Mrs. Audrey Kelly, for Secretary of Internal Affairs, and Judge Samuel J. Roberts, for the State Supreme Court.

Democrats look for an attendance of more than 10,000 persons at their dinner, breaking a previous attendance high of almost that many set in 1960, when Kennedy appeared as a candidate.

The formal openings mean the respective party organizations will commence their radio, television, and press efforts on a large scale.

Freeman Challenges GOP Charges In Estes Hearing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman sharply challenged Republican charges Billie Sol Estes received favored treatment in his farm aid dealings.

Freeman told House investigators Thursday an Agriculture Department inquiry has borne out earlier statements that Estes, a Proctor, Tex., promoter, was treated like any other farmer. And he advised the congressmen that a career employee denoted when the Estes affair first became known has been returned to his old job.

Freeman tangled in an angry exchange with Rep. Odin Langen, R-Minn., accusing the congressman of "the grossest kind of irresponsibility."

Reads Statement

Freeman, appearing before a House Government Operations subcommittee, spent most of the day reading a 48-page prepared statement.

The House group is investigating whether favored treatment was involved in government handling of the promoter's grain storage operations.

The Senate Investigations subcommittee questioned N. Battle Hales, an Agriculture Department employee, further on his charges that top officials in the department favored Estes in his cotton deals, then tried to bail him out of trouble just before his fiscal empire collapsed last March.

Estes faces fraud charges growing out of the alleged sale of phony mortgages on nonexistent fertilizer tanks.

During the noon recess at the House hearing, Langen told reporters Freeman had failed to explain how Estes' grain storage went up while the total storage of government grain in Texas was going down.

Promptly upon returning to the witness stand, Freeman declared Langen's remark was "a misstatement of fact."

Freeman said that in the second quarter of 1961 — the period in question — the total amount of grain stored in Texas by the government went up by 85 million bushels.

Langen charged Estes had received a shipment of government grain from Kansas City in August 1961 while the total amount of grain stored in Texas by the government had dipped from July 1 to Sept. 30.

Important Date

Freeman replied, "The important date—and to ignore this fact

Cause Of Soblen's Death A Mystery

LONDON (AP)—British government witnesses told a coroner Thursday the cause of Robert A. Soblen's death is still a mystery, and so is the source of a sleeping potion which put him into his final coma.

Both Dr. Donald Teare, a government pathologist, and James Mackay, detective superintendent of Scotland Yard, said they would need more time to carry on their inquiries about the 61-year-old psychiatrist who faced a life term in the United States as a Soviet spy.

The coroner, Dr. Harold G. Broadbridge, adjourned the inquest until Oct. 4. He said he would grant a further adjournment then if the government experts had still not completed their investigations.

Apart from Dr. Teare and Mackay, the only witness at the brief hearing was the fugitive's wife, Dina. She identified the dead man as her husband.

Soblen died Tuesday, five days after collapsing from a barbiturate overdose in an ambulance taking him from Brixton Prison to a New York-bound airliner at London airport.

Dr. C. B. Barnes, the physician who attended Soblen during his five days of unconsciousness, told a news conference Tuesday the spy died of exhaustion following convulsions presumably from a brain hemorrhage.

Dr. Barnes said the barbiturate was not the direct cause of death.

New Budget For DRBC Approved

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Delaware River Basin Commission at its final meeting before moving to permanent headquarters in Trenton, N. J., Thursday approved a tentative budget of $30,000 for current expenses during the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1963.

The budget for the current year is $448,665.

New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania and the federal government will each contribute $117,000 toward the budget, Delaware $15,000 and the remainder will come from a special grant of the U. S. Public Health Service.

Approval of the budget will follow a public hearing Sept. 26 at Shawnee-on-Delaware.

Walter Chairman Of House

(Special To The Daily Record)
WASHINGTON, D. C.—Rep. Francis E. Walter again was tapped to serve as chairman of the entire House of Representatives yesterday.

Walter's task is to preside over the debate on the United Nations loan bill, a bill that has the endorsement of President Kennedy and former Presidents Eisenhower and Truman.

This is the third time in recent months that the Eastern Democrat has presided over important legislation. He previously was chairman of the House during the floor deliberation on the farm bill.

Repeatedly Selected

The late Speaker Sam Rayburn, and the present Speaker, John McCormack, repeatedly have selected the 15th District Congressman (Monroe - Pike - Carbon - Northampton) to preside over extremely controversial legislation because of Walter's recognized parliamentary skill.

In recent sessions, he has presided over civil rights, labor reform, foreign aid authorizations and appropriations bills, and minimum wage and housing legislation.

Niehoff Cites Aids Of Sales Tax

ATTY. CARL A. Niehoff, Democratic nominee for State Senator in the 14th Senatorial District, yesterday pointed out that residents of Monroe, Pike, and Wayne Counties have gained tremendous educational benefits in the form of state subsidies through the state sales tax program.

Niehoff, a resident of Carbon County, which is included in the 14th Senatorial District, said that Monroe County sales tax collections in the last biennium amounted to $1,932,000, while educational subsidies to the county amounted to $5,865,229. Pike County sales tax collections were $245,500 and educational subsidies were $424,171.49; and in Wayne County sales tax collections of $795,700 resulted in subsidies to the school districts of $2,532,797.

The Democratic aspirant, elected District Attorney of Carbon County for four consecutive terms, is a former school teacher.

He said that the sales tax, all of which is earmarked for education, has resulted in higher salaries for school teachers, more modern school buildings, and better educational facilities throughout the state.

MONROE County commissioners yesterday approved Marvin Abel as Monroe County Adult Probation officer. His salary will be $3,000 per year.

Marsh has moved his office to N. Sixth St., Stroudsburg. His telephone number is 424-1101.

In other business, Chief Clerk H. Ray Saunders informed the board that 2,155 persons received surplus food for the month of September. This compares to 2,199 people during August.

383 Registered
Saunders also reported to the board that 382 people have been registered during this registration period. The period opened June 15 and will end September 17. He added that the courthouse will be open today and Monday from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. to register voters.

A breakdown of the 382 registered voters is as follows: Democrats, 198; Republicans, 178; Non-Partisan, 4, and Independent, 2.

The addition of this 382 to number of people registered April 1, 1962 gives a total of 19,803 registered voters in the county. The April 1, number, 19,421, is subject to the deduction of voters who have moved from the county and those who have died.

Moral Obligation

One of the greatest gifts Americans possess is their right to vote in secret ballot for any candidate to guide the affairs of our community, the State or the nation. While most of us realize the value of our free vote, too many of us neglect to exercise it.

One of the prerequisites to vote at primary or general elections is that the voter be properly registered in his district. In the case of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, registration has been open for a number of months, but there is little time left for those who have not done so to get their names on the rolls.

Monday is the last day a voter may register to vote in the forthcoming November election, at which we will elect men and women to serve in public office at the local, county, state and national levels.

Diligent campaigns have been waged by the election boards, and mobile places of registration have been set up throughout Monroe County for the convenience of those eligible. However, many Monroe Countians did not take advantage of their right.

There are only two days left to register—today and Monday. For the convenience of residents, the Monroe County Commissioners will be open from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m. on both days to receive registrations. It is the last chance!

Every American has a moral obligation to cast a vote for the candidate of his choice, and he should exercise his right. But, if you do not register, you can not vote!

If you are not registered, get to the Commissioners' office today or Monday — and protect the priceless heritage that is the mark of a free people! REGISTER AND VOTE!

Opinions Of Other Editors

The Poet's Eye

These days a lot of people go to Russia, and quite a few of them visit Mr. Khrushchev, but sometimes it takes a poet's eye to see things that others miss.

Anyway, Robert Frost has lived a long life in his own country and he returned from a short visit to the Soviet Union with something more than the usual observations. Comparing the two countries he said he thought the Russians were "easing down to socialism" while in America "we're straining up to it" so that in time we may take on the color of the thing we so profess to hate.

To the poet's eye, also, Mr. Khrushchev held no mysteries. "Ruffian" is the word that first came to his mind, and then he polished it into a smoother phrase, "rough and ready."

And as poets can often do, by not talking of important things like Berlin and Cuba he persuaded Mr. Khrushchev just to relax and thereby say some important things. We wonder if Mr. Khrushchev would say to a President, as he did to the poet, that he did not think the United States would fight?

But let Mr. Frost tell it: "Khrushchev said he feared for us modern liberals. He said we were too liberal to fight. I suppose he thought we'd stand there for the next hundred years saying, On the one hand—but on the other hand."

The poet just reported what the man said and let it go at that. He leaves the rest of us to recall his own lines. For if all this be true, we may have something "to look backward to with pride" but "nothing to look forward to with hope."

George Sokolsky

Moderate Conservatism

Angry persons do not usually measure their words or curb their ideas. They run to an extreme which is usually more radical in expression than in belief. They reach conclusions which are not based on knowledge but on fear or anger or anxiety.

Norman Cousins, editor of the "Saturday Review," discusses this peculiarity in an editorial entitled: "In Defense of the Genuine Conservative." I have always regarded Cousins as a moderate conservative; that is, one who thinks on current issues within the restraining margins of historic memory. Such a man is ex-President Herbert Hoover. Cousins' own definition of Conservatism is:

"The term conservative has a specific background and meaning. It stands for stability as opposed to innovation; for restraint as opposed to daring; for the preservation of inherited conditions as opposed to drastic reform. These ideas are not only compatible with a free society; they have an essential place in it, along with genuine liberalism. True conservatism is opposed to liberalism, but not destructive of it."

Definitions usually end most debates, because intelligent men usually find that they agree on the definition and therefore their quarrel ceases to have meaning.

The cry that Chief Justice Warren should be impeached; that the Kennedy dynasty be abolished; that we conduct a unilateral "sane" nuclear policy; that it is possible to retain segregation without encouraging African nations to join the Soviet bloc — these have nothing to do with conservatism or liberalism; they have to do with knowledge or ignorance of civics and international relations.

Often the so-called neo-conservative believes in all sorts of contrary ideas simultaneously. He may be emotionally correct; his indignation may be justified. But wisdom counsels the avoidance of the Kennedy remedy.

Conservatism is a concept of the social, political and economic manifestations of human existence which is based upon Natural Law and the historical experience of Man. Perhaps it might be stated as an idealism which directs the functioning of Man within the restraining margins of historical experience.

From this standpoint it can be said that the Conservative is not driven by accidental or incidental occurrences, but that he is restrained from excesses by memory, precept and manners.

He therefore does not attribute his own failures to general causes; he assumes responsibility for his own errors of judgement and commission. Cousins says of the neo-conservatives, the extremists:

"... They claim to be conservatives, but exactly what is it that they would conserve?

Would they conserve the Constitution of the United States? Only if some major surgery could be performed, especially on the first ten amendments. Would they conserve the one institution that has been specifically charged with the responsibility to preserve a constitutional form of government; namely, the Supreme Court? Only if they could expunge some Supreme Court justices and decisions they happen to detest..."

The fact of the matter is that many of the extremists, discouraged by errors of knowledge and judgment over the years, have actually lost confidence in our form of government. They would have found Andrew Jackson's attack on the United States Bank cause for pessimism but somehow we survived both Andrew Jackson and the Biddies of Philadelphia. Survival is not a matter of incidents but of philosophy and faith.

The pessimists about our form of government have had many causes for distress. One who reads the attacks on Abraham Lincoln for being a dictator and a tyrant would hardly believe all that about the President who next to George Washington is accepted as the greatest of all. Lincoln's "Gettysburg Address" was contemporaneously regarded as nothing but words. Those who believe that President Kennedy is too young and immature forget that our government was founded by men who were young and immature, the leading conservative, Alexander Hamilton, being killed in a duel at the age of 47.

In a word, Conservatism is an ideal of life, not a vehicle for hate or an instrument of pessimism. Norman Cousins writes: "They claim Robert Taft as their patron saint, but they are lucky that he is not alive to tear himself loose from their unwanted affections. For Robert Taft was a genuine conservative."

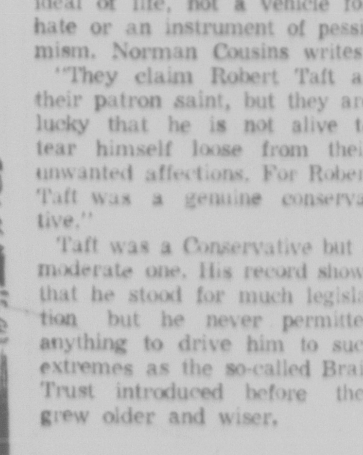

Taft was a Conservative but a moderate one. His record shows that he stood for much legislation but he never permitted anything to drive him to such extremes as the so-called Brain Trust introduced before they grew older and wiser.

Rock-a-bye My Babies

By Mason Denison Harrisburg — Reporter's Notebook

"Political Business Climate — Capitol Hill pundits have become somewhat amused — and certainly not without good reason — over the hassle currently raging between Democrats and Republicans as to which party has been responsible for creation of what is now generally referred to as 'Pennsylvania's compatible business climate.'"

Reason for the amusement is that it doesn't require any extensive memory stretching to recall the pre-1955 days when Democrats were anything but the ruling party, and as the "harping minority" continually bagged the in-office Republicans as "charging GOPsters with 'business tax favoritism.'"

Curiously perhaps, since 1955 when Democrats emerged as the ruling party and with the shoe on the other foot, their political patter obviously has undergone a somewhat drastic change. Today, it seems, Pennsylvania Democrats are insisting in this campaign year that they are now responsible for Pennsylvania's so-called favorable tax climate for Pennsylvania business — a far cry indeed from their unbecoming pre-1955 out-of-office days.

Just how far the "transition" has gone is illustrated by this comment by (Democratic) Governor Lawrence at a recent press conference:

"I understand that Mr. Scranton (GOP gubernatorial candidate) is trying to say that the Democrats had nothing to do with bringing about a much better tax climate for Pennsylvania. That just again, points out his complete lack of knowledge of what is going on. I would like him to explain why the corporations of Pennsylvania in 1954 and 1955 were paying 41.2 per cent of the state taxes whereas in 1961 and 1962 they are paying 27.7 per cent."

On the basis of Mr. Lawrence's contention, it would seem that Pennsylvania Democrats — now that they are in office — should bear the label of "the party of business interests!"

"Immunity Personified! — The strictly political thought espoused glibly by Pennsylvania donkey riders that state officials (for some reason) are above political criticism unquestionably hit a high point of downright absurdity this week with this blast by Democratic State Chairman Otis B. Morse:

"Continuing Republican attacks upon Cabinet members of the Lawrence Administration who are registered Republican, Non-Partisan or Independent demonstrates all too clearly the Republican hierarchy's complete lack of interest in continuing good government in Pennsylvania."

The point Chairman Morse seemingly misses is that once a person becomes a public official he automatically becomes subject to criticism, of all things, regardless of political party affiliation. In actuality if Republicans are championing non-Democrats — as Mr. Morse and Mr. Lawrence insist they are — certainly it shows an interesting disregard of political favoritism (with which Democrats seemingly are so concerned!)

Real "Walking" Candidate! — The day-to-day campaign schedules of the candidates (mimeographed copies of which Capitol Hill newsmen receive continually) in many cases are interesting items in themselves. . . . Previously in this column we've noted the heavy use of the Kof-Klatch system by some of the candidates. . . . The schedules also contain conferences, meetings, lunches, etc.

We were particularly amused however by the schedule of candidate McCann, Democratic candidate for Lieutenant-Governor for Tuesday and Wednesday of this week in Schuylkill County. . . . Tuesday he arrived in the county at noon — and of the five engagements listed for that afternoon (excluding dinner) four are listed individually as "walking tour" — On Wednesday the day — of which seven are listed in the "walking tour" category! (The remaining two: lunch and dinner).

For stout 200-pound-plus McCann the "walking tour" idea is perhaps not without good reason!

MODEL OF EFFICIENCY: Skillful architecture enables this handsome ranch to contain three bedrooms, two and one-half baths, living room, foyer, kitchen-dining area in a modest 1,263 square feet of living

By JULES LOH
THERE'S a big difference — in fact, many big differences — between a small house and a cramped house, even though both may contain the same amount of floor space.
Anyone who has lived in a cramped house knows the irritants: doors that open into living or work areas and encroach on the already limited space, rooms that you can't get to without crossing through another room, children having to run to the bathroom at night in full view of a house full of guests, lack of adequate closet and storage space.

These are only a few, but all are of the type many young homemakers don't discover until after they've lived in their new house awhile; the sweet dream of acquiring "our own home at last" frequently blurs its less obvious architectural flaws.

area without any of it cramped. Modified U-shape is secret of efficient floor plan as well as interesting exterior.

Usually one glance from the curb is all it takes to tell a good small house from a bad small house. If the house has a lackluster, box-like exterior, it's a safe bet the interior design is equally unimaginative.

In the hands of a skillful architect, however, 1,200 to 1,300 square feet of living area can be molded into a home which is a delight to live in as well as to look at, a comfortable dwelling both for the well established family and the unseasoned newly-weds.

This is the type chosen for today's House of the Week, design J-38 in the series. It is the product of architect Alfred H. Ryder, a man of proven ability in the small home field.

The house contains only 1,263 square feet of living area, yet contains three bedrooms of nice proportions, one and a half baths, a foyer, large living room, and a roomy kitchen-dining area with a folding wall separation. It also has a full basement and an attached garage.

Its overall dimensions, including the garage, are 49 feet two inches wide by 39 feet eight inches deep, which means it would fit comfortably on a 75-foot lot.

A modified U-shape design provides not only an interesting exterior but also permits a floor plan unrestricted by the confines of a simple rectangle. It also makes the house look considerably larger.

To illustrate architect Ryder's unusual talent, look how he has provided for a foyer — an uncommon luxury in most homes of this size. He placed the main hallway to one side of the living room, converted part of it into the foyer. Thus the same space does double duty — but not at the same time.

Another example is the location of the service entry. You have in effect a garage entry to the kitchen as well as a service door, but in a place where the door doesn't swing into the kitchen work area or interrupt the valuable counter space. The basement door likewise is well out of the way of kitchen traffic, and easy to reach from outside.

Note also the location of the main bath. It serves not only the two rear bedrooms, but also is convenient to both the living room and kitchen. The main bedroom has its own lavatory.

For a family which doesn't yet require three bedrooms, the middle room could serve nicely as a den or study.

The living room, which is smartly built one step down from the rest of the house, has a large bay window and handsome fireplace, and is connected to the dining area by an arch and wrought iron rail.

Another exquisite feature is the long covered porch at the main entry enhanced by a brick planter. Brick veneer is used on this protruding wing, blending nicely with the wood siding, and a wood fence provides a homey touch.

The real genius of this house, though, is its economical use of every square inch of floor space. The kitchen-dining area demonstrates this as well as any other part of the house. There is plenty of counter and cupboard space (an extra counter, or snack bar, adjoins the stairway wall) and still more shelf space in the nearby garage between chimney and door.

J-38 STATISTICS

A one-story model containing three bedrooms, one and a half baths, living room, kitchen and dining area, attached garage, full basement in 1,263 square feet of living area and overall dimensions of 49 feet two inches wide by 39 feet eight inches deep.

Lower The Roof

IF YOU don't like the dimensions of your house, you can change them visually by using color properly. A house that appears to be too tall for its width can be squared off if you paint the roof darker than the side walls. This will make it seem lower. Re-inforce this by painting upper-story shutters or trim in the roof color. On the other hand, if the house looks too squat paint the roof a light color. In addition to making the house look taller, the light color will reflect sun heat and keep your home cooler.

Bright Door

ONE way of giving individuality to your development home is to paint the door in a bright color that contrasts pleasantly with the color used for the body or trim of your home. In this way it will have character of its own that sets it apart from its identical neighbors but, at the same time, does not make it stand out like the proverbial sore thumb. Choose an exterior enamel or trim paint for longer wear and color life.

Craftsman Based In Woods Gets Orders From All Over The World

By PAT WILLIAMS
Daily Record Reporter
"IT'S INTERESTING to sit in the woods and get orders from all over the world," Horace Fish Jr., said, as he sat in his shop, attached to his home in Cresco.

Fish was referring to the orders for handwrought sterling silver jewelry, which he markets through local shops and to customers on repeat orders from as far away as South Africa and England.

Born in Barrett Township in 1909, Fish was the victim of polio at the age of 19. He spent six months in hospitals before he could get around with braces and crutches.

The Crippled Children's Society heard of his affliction and through their auspices, Fish attended an institution in New York City, where for nine months, he learned the trade of making silver jewelry.

"After I'd been there, I was awarded the Backus Honor by the institute," Fish remembers. "Then I came back to the Poconos, and built my home in the woods."

Worked At Buck Hill
"I worked as an elevator operator at The Inn, Buck Hill Falls, for a time," Fish went on, "and rode horseback along the creek as a patrolman. I sold so much of my work, that I gave up the job and went to making the jewelry full-time."

SILVER CRAFTSMAN — Horace Fish, Jr., holds a silver candlestick with a bold relief leaping buck on it. He designed the piece from nature, in his home in the woods, near Cresco.

"The saddle I used on the horse, was ornamented with nearly 100 pieces of silver, now, my son Larry rides a Western quarterhorse, using the same saddle," Fish pointed to a picture of his son on horseback tacked to the wall of the shop.

Wife Assists
In 1941, Fish married Lucy Stewart and taught her how to help him with the jewelry making. "For more than 10 years, we sold our work in shops all along the eastern coast of the United States. And in 1951, Dr. Clinton Preston McCord arranged for my wife and I to attend an art show in the Ten Eyck Hotel, Buffalo.

"Once," Fish said, "a convention with delegates from 35 countries was staying at The Inn, and as a result of the purchases made there, I have customers in Capetown, South Africa, England and Puerto Rico."

Displaying examples of his work, Fish pointed out the most popular, the dogwood blossoms. "When we wanted to make it, we went into the woods and picked one, made a pattern and have used the same pattern ever since," Fish said.

"The patterns, more than 100, were all original, we don't copy from any other jewelry," he said proudly. "We do make jewelry over someone's special design, and have done it, but won't copy someone else's work."

Three Days Longest
"The longest time I ever spent on one particular piece," the craftsman remarked, "was three days getting a pine cone pin just right for a woman who had designed it herself."

In talking over the many pieces of jewelry he, his wife and son have made over the years, Fish recalls that the largest single order was for 175 oak leaf pins for gifts for the Rotary International district convention at Pocono Manor last winter. "We worked three months on that order, in addition to carrying on with our regular work," Fish said.

Fish looked over the pins and earring sets displayed on black velvet in cases. He uses sheet silver in various thicknesses and silver wire to create the pieces of jewelry. He also has made a pair of silver candlesticks which depict an eight-pointed buck in bold relief leaping high on the base. The same pattern was worked in brass as a lamp base.

"We do silver work on guns, too," Fish pointed out a gun rack which held rifles and shotguns with intricate patterns on them and stars on the stocks.

Gold Work
"I've done some work in gold, but consider it a harder metal to use," Fish said. "Working with silver, we make our own designs directly from nature. He displayed a squirrel holding a nut in its paws and a baby bear, partially finished, which was apparently shambling through the woods before Fish caught him in silver."

"The shine of the silver is real," Fish pointed out, "I don't use lacquer on the pieces, we buff them on the wheel, our only piece of machinery in the shop."

Also displayed in the Fish home are examples of the taxidermy course he took in 1938, but gave up, to spend more time on the jewelry.

On the reverse of each silver creation is a tiny line design of a fish and the word "sterling"

State Accident Picture Bright

HARRISBURG (AP) — Traffic Safety Commissioner O. D. Shipley said Thursday that Pennsylvania's traffic accident picture brightened during the summer.

Shipley, in a talk to the Governor's Traffic Safety Council, said that an overall decrease in highway fatalities was recorded in June, July and August of this year, as compared to the same months in 1961.

Shipley, however, expressed concern over a "sharp rise in pedestrian fatalities" during recent months, and the high fatality rate of the Pennsylvania Turnpike.

The commissioner reported that there were seven less fatalities in June of this year than in June of 1961, and two less in July. He said the preliminary report for August indicated a decrease of more than 15 from the 1961 month.

Tribe To Adopt Rep. Saylor

WARREN, Pa. (AP) — The Seneca Indians will adopt U.S. Rep. John Saylor (R-Pa.) into its nation Saturday at "Indian Day" ceremonies in New York and Pennsylvania.

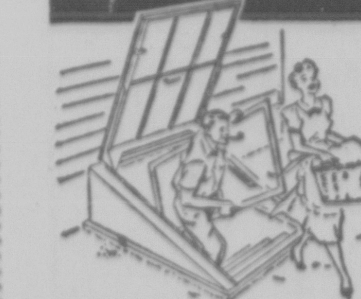

Robert L. Haines, chairman of the Philadelphia Yearly Meeting of Friends, also will be adopted. The observance gets underway in Salamanca, N.Y., and will continue at the nearby Kinzua Dam site and the Complanter Reservation in Warren County.

Saylor is slated to be the principal speaker following ceremonies at the Chief Complanter Monument.

Bank Clearings Up

NEW YORK (AP) — Bank clearings during August totaled $130,995,214.00 compared with $122,944,909.00 in August 1961, Dun & Bradstreet reported. The figures show the value of checks cleared and thus are considered an indication of the amount of business.

Car Accident Injuries Fatal

PITTSBURGH (AP) — A 58-year-old Pitcairn man died in Mercy Hospital early Thursday of injuries suffered in a one-car crash which killed his son and injured two women on the Penn-Lincoln Parkway.

Thomas Wurtz 20, of Pitcairn was dead on arrival at Mercy Hospital. His father died about 2 1/2 hours later.

Ella Meyers 82, of Pitcairn and Mary Oliver, 78, of Crafton were reported in fair condition.

Police said the auto driven by the elder Wurtz struck the highway divider at the parkway's Grant Street Interchange in downtown Pittsburgh.

The soups—cream of tomato, clam chowder and split pea with ham—will be "nutritionally complete" 225-calorie meals, the company said.

New Head Of Workhouse

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Clarence R. Wolfe, 54, a 31-year veteran of the state penal system, was named Thursday as temporary superintendent of the Allegheny County Workhouse in nearby Blawnox.

Edward J. Lesko, a member of the Workhouse board of managers, said Wolfe will succeed Lawrence P. Keenan, 70, who resigned Wednesday.

Wolfe, currently deputy superintendent at the State Correctional Institution at Grateford, will assume his new duties Sept. 24.

Keenan quit shortly before the state commissioner of corrections, Arthur T. Prasse, proposed a series of reforms at the institution following an investigation.

However, Lesko said the resignation had no connection with the investigation.

The probe had been touched off last spring after charges were made alleging favoritism to certain prisoners, smuggling of whiskey and dope into the prison, and poor food, care and recreational facilities.

Castings Output Up

NEW YORK (AP) — Production of steel ingots and metal for castings was about 7.1 million tons in August, up from July but less than in August 1961, the American Iron and Steel Institute estimated.

The group said the August total compared with 6,174,187 tons in July and 8,660,527 tons in August last year. For the first eight months, production totaled 67,372,366 tons, compared with 61,611,145 tons in the same period last year.

Just Between Us—

By Bobby Westbrook

At least life slowed down enough for me to count my blisters — and to catch up on some of the excitement which is ruling the world of organizations these days as they all go into high gear for the season ahead.

Every Fall I marvel at the number and variety of organizations — some 250, I think, at latest count — which we seem able to attend and support in their many projects.

Fashion shows, some combined with card parties, seem to be the favorite form of benefit right now, and if we're not up on our fashions it's not the fault of the Anna Logan Society, the Paradise Community Center, the Al-Tar and Rosary Society, the Business and Professional Woman's Club and whoever else is giving fashion shows.

Concerts come next. With praise for the Rubinstein concert still echoing among those who attended, the preliminary plans for the big Waring Concert "World of Music" are beginning to burgeon, and the Community Concert Assn. is winding up for its membership campaign next week. Adding to our musical culture are all the school band and chorus concerts still to come.

Intellectually, the Dutch Treat is currently seeking members who will enjoy the wit and wisdom of lecturers on a wide variety of subjects, program chairmen have lined up speakers to keep their members informed on the moot topics of the day on both the home and international front.

In addition to which, the college is offering post graduate courses which encourages adults to return to their studies, the Great Books Group is ready to begin its discussion of — what else? — Great Books.

The opportunities are certain here — and if we choose to sit around the television with our shoes off, we ought to admit that we're staying slobs by our own choice.

However, parents tell me, they don't have a choice these days — not if they want to understand what their children are talking about. After third grade, any parent who wants to help the children with their homework has to take a post graduate course just to understand the terminology.

Local Legion Aux. To Host Past Presidents' Parley

The Past Presidents Parley of the American Legion Aux. will be held in East Stroudsburg at the George N. Kemp Post home on Saturday with representatives from Carbon, Lehigh, Monroe and Northampton Counties present.

The local auxiliary will entertain at a luncheon at 12:30. Jack Gelinas will be guest speaker, telling of life in Nigeria where he spent several years.

Plans for the parley were discussed at the September meeting of the local unit. Mrs. Victor Koch, membership chairman, announced there were 253 members paid for 1962.

Installation of officers will be held at the October meeting after a covered dish supper. Mrs. Carolyn Krepinsky, district director, will be a guest. Miss Barbara Dishman, of Stroud Union High School, who represented the local unit at Girls State Camp in July, will be present with her mother.

The president and secretaries of the unit will go to Harrisburg, Sept. 28 and 29 for the State President-Secretary Conference.

Convention reports were given at the August meeting and Mrs. G. Currier and her committee were hostesses.

September hostesses who served refreshments were Mrs. Charles Gage, Mrs. William Heckman, Mrs. Lucy Heller and Mrs. Lulu Miller.

Society Of 28th Aux. Installation

Gateway Post 56 and Aux., Society of the 28th Division will hold joint installation of officers at the VFW Home on Sunday, Sept. 16, at 2 p.m.

Natty national officers will be present and a large turnout is expected to welcome them.

Take time to rinse a grater right after using it because this saves time in the long run.

Bride-To-Be Is Feted By Valley WSCS

Popular Valley — A bridal shower for one of the members added to the excitement of the September meeting of the Poplar Valley Women's Society of Christian Service with Mrs. Robert Bentzoni, Cherry Valley, as hostess.

Mrs. Laura Brewer, who is to be married at the Cherry Valley Church on Sept. 15 to Wallace Sweetley of Newton, N. J., was the surprised guest of honor.

The devotions were led by the vice president, Mrs. Ernest Brewer. The guest of honor, arriving after the business meeting, was escorted to a specially decorated chair under white wedding bells and streamers. She was presented with a money tree decorated by members and friends.

Games and prizes were featured and refreshments of ice cream sundaes and cakes were served.

Attending were Mrs. Paul Albert, Mrs. Robert Wagner, Mrs. Edward Dennis, Mrs. Ernest Brewer, Mrs. Elizabeth Bond, Mrs. Carrie Dennis, Mrs. Beatrice Halterman, Mrs. Nona Reish, Mrs. Hazel Fenner, Mrs. Edith Parcell, Mrs. Edward Gunn, Mrs. Ruth Zellers, Mrs. Norman Dennis, Mrs. Laura Brewer and the hostess, Mrs. Robert Bentzoni, assisted by Mrs. Parcell and Mrs. Fenner.

Neighborhood G. S. Leaders Plan Season

The first meeting of the East Stroudsburg Neighborhood of Girl Scouts leaders and committee members for the season was held recently in the parish house of the East Stroudsburg Methodist Church with three members from the Scranton office present.

Miss Anna Johns, camping program training advisor, announced that the Scranton-Pocono Council of Girl Scouts was the only council of the 2,000 Councils in the United States to have all of its troops, No. 280, registered on time.

Miss Peggy Jean Davis, advisor of district 5 and Miss Julie Znanicki, advisor of district 2 were also present at the meeting.

Plans were discussed for the training session for adult leaders to be held at Camp Archbold Sept. 22 and 23.

Mrs. Elwood Grant, local publicity consultant, gave an illustrated talk on nature, emphasizing the fungi found at Camp Lloyd Trebilcock.

Obesity Linked To Income, Mental Health

Chicago (AP) — Women of small incomes and little social note tend to be fatter than their well-heeled society sisters, a group of medical researchers said Thursday.

Or, to put it in terms of the research report, "obesity is seven times more frequent among women of the lowest socio-economic level than it is among those of the highest level; among men, the same relationship exists, although to a much lesser degree."

Overweight, the study said, together with lower-class living conditions also is associated with certain mental disturbances.

Data resulting from a study of 1,660 New York residents was used in the analysis printed in the current issue of the Journal of the American Medical Association.

Obesity increased in prevalence with increasing age, said the researchers, Mary E. Moore and Dr. Albert Stunkard, both of Philadelphia, and Leo Sloie, Brooklyn, N.Y.

Results of psychiatric tests showed that obese persons scored lower on mental health than those of normal weight. They tended to be less mature, more rigid, and more suspicious.

"Our results do not indicate whether the mental health factors are causes of obesity or the results of being obese in a society that devalues obesity," the researchers said.

They suggested that the study results indicated that the problem of obesity might be successfully undertaken as a broadscale public health project, rather than through the personal doctor and patient relationship.

a good indication of how Stroud Union will fare this year in league competition.

The Mountaineers are at full strength for tonight's encounter. Lehighton squad is also optimistic. In an interview with Lehighton coach Tom Faulkner, he had this to say about tonight's ball game. "I feel the Stroud Union ball club is the most improved club in the league and they were very underrated in pre-season polls.

"I can see no reason why they will not play 500 ball or better for they have a mobile line and a fast backfield.

Vastly Improved

"At the same time Lehighton is vastly improved and we are very confident going into tonight's ball game with the Mountaineers.

Looks For Tough Battle

"I look for a real tough battle. Where our strong points really lie I do not know, for in the game last week here which we won 32-14 over Jim Thorpe our squad was not roundly tested.

"Our passing game netted us 229 yards and that is the first I can remember since I've coached this happened. However our running game was not even tested so this part of our attack will be introduced tonight against Stroudsburg.

"I doubt if we will be able to pass like this against Stulgaitis. We are rebuilding, but our prospectus is bright. Our ball club will be developed around quarterback Dave Werner and halfback Paul Keiser.

"Keiser is the league's 440 yd. dash champion in track, and I consider him the finest halfback around. Mike Novatnak who is our end and kicker is strong and he also is one of the better punters in the league.

Faulkner also said "as far as the game goes tonight, it depends on how good the Stroudsburg team really is."

Mountaineers Lineup

The Mountaineer line of Ed Nevil, Bill Burnett, Dave Berry, Ernest Ibarra, Bill Gary, Austin Keiser and Bob Nonnemacher should prove the test for Lehighton's running game, while the backfield of Glen Bisbing, Freddie Frantz, Don Baylor and Tom Schatzman should exploit the defense, Stulgaitis pointed out.

Stulgaitis also noted the "fine spirit" and pre-game attitude among his squad. He feels confident they are in good mental spirits for the season's opener.

Knights Hope For Revenge

PEN ARGYL — Revenge is the word in the football camp of the Pen Argyl Green Knights today.

As the squad of Coach Elwood Petchel ended their final scrimmage session yesterday for tonight's opener against Muhlenberg Township, the team was obviously "up" for this one.

And for good reason.

The Knights' opponents this evening at Reading's Municipal Stadium represent the same school which deprived Pen Argyl of an undefeated grid season last year. Following Muhlenberg's win over the Knights, the Petchel eleven rode a nine-game win streak to capture the Lehigh-Northampton League crown.

If revenge is to be gained, it will be up to the Knights' veteran backfield which could well be considerably handicapped working behind an inexperienced line. This is Petchel's plight this year.

Returning to the back slots once more for the defending L-N champs are Quarterback Terry Sandt, and Halfbacks Gary Heard and Bob Engler. At fullback will be Jim Rodney, converted from his defensive end slot of last season.

As Petchel puts it: "We have a very green line this year and it's going to be a test for them when they get into action."

Single-Wing Again

Entering his second campaign as head coach, Petchel is continuing his concentration this year on the single-wing attack which he inaugurated here in his maiden season with the club.

It was from this formation last year which carried the team through its 9-1 record.

Petchel's big guns in the backfield once again will be Heard and Engler who garnered a total of 198 points last year. Heard alone carried the ball for 117 points of that total.

Principally, the Knights' attack will be almost a replica of last season — a hard running attack. Not only does Petchel like to stick to the ground, but he also has the boys who can run. And they'll be the same boys who lugged the leather last year.

Line Light, Green

But only time will tell whether backs — with a full year's experience behind them — can overcome the obstacle of working behind a line which not only is green, but also quite light.

Average weight of the linemen runs only about 165 pounds.

If the backs can break away fast enough, the Green Knights will be a tough nut to crack. And most experts believe just that — considering their No. 1 rating among the Lehigh-Northampton League contenders.

Eastburg Travels To Slatington

'Toughest' Opener: Kist

IT WILL be East Stroudsburg's veteran, rugged line against a speed-demon Slater backfield to night at Slatington as Cavalier Coach Jack Kist looks for "one of our toughest opening games in recent years."

The Eastburg squad, which doesn't have much in the running department compared to last year, will undoubtedly see plenty — if not too much — of a ground attack from their opponents.

Headed by Halfbacks Jim Buzinski and Dick Berger, the Slators pose a serious threat to the Cavaliers and Kist certainly isn't looking for anything like last year's 42-19 romp over the same outfit in tonight's contest.

"One of Best"

Terming Buzinski "one of the best backs in the Valley," the Eastburg grid mentor is much concerned about his Cavaliers' lack of "comeback power" to stop them this year.

"If they get out in the open, it's good-bye," he added.

Even last year, the Eastburgers had trouble throttling this dazzling one-two punch of the Slators as Buzinski and Berger tallied all three TD's against the Kist contingent.

In addition to Kist's strong line, which is led by Co-Captains Bud Stann and Mike Boushell, much also will depend upon the throwing arm of veteran Quarterback Jack Van Horn. The Cavaliers are expected to take to the air in their attack to offset their

Ticket Snarl Faces Colts

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Baltimore Colts began an around-the-clock operation Thursday in an effort to unravel a monumental ticket snarl three days in advance of their home opener.

The National Football League club reported an undetermined

BOSTON (AP) — One-time heavyweight challenger Tom McNeely said Thursday his boxing days are over and added he may be heading for a professional wrestling career.

weak running game.

One Game, One Win

Another factor to consider is that Slatington already has one game under their belt this campaign — and one victory. The Slators downed a good Coplay squad, 13-6.

But note this! Buzinski was down with the virus last week, he was used on only one play —

Casualty List

Kist also is having trouble with scrimmage casualties. Earlier in the week, it was Bill Reese, a second-line halfback, who injured his knee and is out indefinitely. Now, another back-up halfback, sophomore Marc Decker whom Kist said had been "coming along very well for us," is out for at least three weeks with a slight fracture of the wrist.

And Guard Bob Corby, a junior and starter, has come up with a sprained wrist. However, there is hope that Corby will be able to play tonight.

One thing is certain. Kist is not letting himself be hoodwinked by last year's rout of this same team. As he put it yesterday, "We're not taking them too lightly."

Local Elevens To Win Openers

(EDITOR'S NOTE — Mr. Pigskin, an individual who has been out on the limb since Nero fiddled while Rome burned, will stay out there the entire grid season, while attempting to predict the outcome of area games each week.)

KING football kicks itself into the Pocono Mountain and State Belt late summer scene this weekend as regional scholastic and collegiate elevens take pot shots at one another.

Three games highlight the local picture Friday night (tonight),

Deny ABC Buys Rights To Playoffs

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Los Angeles Dodgers Wednesday termed premature and inaccurate a report that the American Broadcasting Co. had bought television and radio rights to any Los Angeles-San Francisco playoff games for the National League pennant.

The Dodgers issued this statement: "In the event of a playoff for the National League pennant, following past Dodge precedent, the games will be carried on national radio and television network. The games also will be carried on radio and television by our local network stations with the same announcers and sponsors as during the season.

"Inaccurate" "Negotiations on the national coverage of the possible playoff games have been interrupted by a premature and inaccurate report out of New York. The selection of dates, fields and all other particulars relative to a playoff under the jurisdiction of the National League president and no decision on same has been made at this time."

The Dodgers, with 16 games left of the San Francisco Giants, who to play, are a half a game ahead have 17 more.

SHAWNEE-on-Delaware — The East's most prominent gunners will gather at Shawnee Inn and Country Club Friday, Sept. 21 to Sunday, Sept. 23, for the 39th annual Atlantic Indian's Championship Shoot.

Elwood Hicken, of Chester, will defend the handicap championship crown he won last year by breaking 99 plays out of 100 at 20 yards.

The shooting program is as follows: Friday, Sept. 21 — 100 mixed targets, 50 16-yard and 50 handicap; and Atlantic Indians doubles championship 25 pair doubles targets; Saturday, Sept. 22, Atlantic Indians Handicap Championship, 100 handicap targets; Sunday, Sept. 23, Atlantic Indians singles and 4 Class Championship 100 16-yard targets.

Barber Back With Orioles

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Baltimore Orioles said Wednesday they have reactivated left-hander pitcher Steve Barber.

Barber, 23, had been on the disabled list for almost five weeks because of mononucleosis.

Barber's availability was sharply curtailed early in the year because he was in the Army and could pitch only on weekends. He nevertheless has a 9-6 record, second only to Milt Pappas' 12-8.

$40,000 For Jofre To Defend

SAO PAULO, Brazil (AP)—Eder Jofre, who successfully defended his world bantamweight title with a six-round knockout of Mexican Joe Medel Tuesday night, has been offered $40,000 to make his next title defense in Japan.

Jofre said Wednesday he would accept the offer provided there were no tax restrictions on his purse. No opponent was mentioned.

Commercial C Plays Tonight

THE Commercial C League has slated three matches for 9:15 p.m. They are: Counterman's Drug Store vs. Trumatic Machine & Tool on alleys 1 and 2; Lanterman's Funeral Home vs. Kreamer Ice Cream on alleys 3 and 4; and Lucky Dot Hotel vs. Regina Hotel on alleys 5 and 6.

NFL To Hold College Draft

NEW YORK (AP) — The National Football League will hold its annual draft of college players in Chicago on Monday, Dec. 3, Commissioner Pete Rozelle announced Wednesday. The date is 30 days after the close of the college season.

Veto New Sports Stadium

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The proposed new sports stadium won't go on the ballot in the November election.

The vote of City Council's Finance Committee was 5-1 to pigeonhole the project. All the Democrats voted against with Republican Vincent J. Knauer voting to report the proposal out.

Paul D'Ortona, council president, said the stadium project is not a dead and would be revived "at a time when the issue would not be inflamed with partisan politics."

In 63rd Primary Harry Norwisch, a Democrat and acting chairman of the Finance Committee, said he was ready to put the stadium before the voters in the May, 1963 primary.

D'Ortona read a formal statement in which the Republicans were blamed for making the stadium proposal a partisan issue. He said this Republican opposition would jeopardize three other loan issues that will be on the November ballot for municipal improvement.

The mayor's committee proposed a $22.7 million 60,000 seat stadium in South Philadelphia immediately north of the existing Municipal Stadium. Both the Philadelphia Phillies of the National Baseball League, and the Philadelphia Eagles of the National Football League signed leases to play in the new stadium.

New Site By '66 The Phillies must have a new place to play by 1966 since their present site Connie Mack Stadium, has been sold. The club's options on the field run out in 1966. The Eagles presently are using the University of Pennsylvania's 70,000 seat Franklin Field.

The mayor's committee has said the new stadium would be self supporting, a fact contested by opposition to the proposal. The 30-year leases signed by the Phillies and Eagles, plus parking concessions and a planned 25 cent a head surtax were offered as enough revenue to support the stadium without burdening the taxpayers.

Gundy To Open Kindergarten

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — JoAnne Gunderson, at 23 a three-time winner of the U.S. Women's Amateur Golf Championship, plans to open and operate a private kindergarten schools for girls this fall.

Miss Gunderson said the project will not take her out of tournament golf, since the school will operate for only nine months. The blonde champion, from Kirkland, Wash., plays little golf in the off season.

The Daily Investor

Stock In Telstar

By William A. Doyle

Q. Is there any stock for sale in Telstar? If so, what would the stock cost?

A. The Telstar communications satellite now whirling in space around this planet earth was developed and is owned by American Telephone & Telegraph Co. So, you can own stock in Telstar by buying AT&T stock.

That, however, is only the beginning of the story — a story which is now only beginning.

The Telstar now in orbit is really only an experimental thing. It is expected that in the future there will be many Telstar communications satellites in orbit — making possible constant worldwide television and many other advances in communications.

The role of these United States in that field will be handled by a satellite communications corporation. As everyone who reads the newspapers should know, President Kennedy recently signed into law a bill authorizing the organization of such a company.

(That was the bill that some far-out left-wingers tried to filibuster to death in the Senate.) The Communications Satellite Act lays down the ground rules on the very thing that you ask about. A group of men, named by President Kennedy, will organize the company.

The law provides that half of the stock of the new company will be reserved for purchase by "authorized carriers" — companies in the communications business.

The other half of the stock will be offered for sale to the public at no more than $100 a share. The exact price, the number of shares and just when they will be sold are among the things still to be decided.

Everyone seems interested in space projects these days. The potentials of Telstar and other communications satellites have captured our imaginations. But there is no guaranty that stock in the new company will be a big money-maker.

President Kennedy took note of this when he said "there may be quite a long period of time before there is any return on this investment," adding he was "not sure the dollars-and-cents return would be comparable to what investors might be able to get in other areas, at least for a great many years."

Try on an Elegant Mood this Fall...
